DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 3 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Menon et al., U.S. 5,574,882.

As for claim 1, Menon et al. teach a plurality of disk drives for storing parity groups (Figure 1, element 20), each parity group comprising storage blocks, each of said storage blocks from a given parity group reside on a separate disk drive (this is fundamental to RAID Level 5 operation, note the abstract or Figure 3 or column 1) wherein file system metadata comprises information to describe the data blocks in one or more parity groups (that is what parity data does, note column 1, lines 22-24).

As for claims 3 and 21, these are clearly taught by the use of PGS bit maps in the Menon et al. system.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 4-6, 19, 20 and 22-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Menon et al., U.S. 5,574,882, in view of Watanabe et al., U.S. 5,754,756.

As for claim 2 and 22, different parity group sizes may not have been specifically mentioned in the Menon et al. system, however, they were explicitly disclosed in the Watanabe et al. system (note the Abstract or Figure 6). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the different parity group sizes of Watanabe et al. into the RAID system of Menon et al., since this would have allowed for a more efficient (i.e., less wasted space) storage of the parity information and would have provided greater flexibility when data amounts varied among disk groups.

As for claims 4-6, the Gnid as it appears in these claims is nothing more than information relating to stored files, which are used in all data processing systems, including both of the systems cited in the above combination, e.g., note the PGS bits of Watanabe.

As for claim 19, the the above combination does not mention fibre channels, however it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the storage combination above into a fibre channel network, since such a network (as with others) would have benefited from the increased efficiency of the above combination.

As for claims 20 and 22, the use of "files" is taught by the either of the data files of Menon et al. or Watanabe et al.

As for claims 23-27, the process for combining or separating parity groups would have been included by the elements of the Watanabe system in the combination disclosed above.

Double Patenting

6. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 2186

7. Claims 1-27 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 7-18 (as currently amended) of copending Application No. 10/060,921. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because there is no feature in any of the present claims that is not unobvious in view of claims 7-18 of the '921 application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 7-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
